Hübsch

Happiness is the heart of the Hübsch brand. We believe that true happiness comes from surrounding ourselves with colourful designs and high-quality products.

Through a harmonious mix of materials, textures, and colours, our brand tells a clear yet playful story—a narrative that ticks all the boxes for functionality, aesthetics, and complementary contrasts.

Dweller

Some spaces do more than just look good—they simply feel right. They draw you in. Slow you down. And make you want to stay a little longer. Something about them just clicks. That feeling isn't random. Dwellers know how to create it. They don't just live in a space—they connect with it.

To dwell is to care. To shape your surroundings with intention—not for show, but for living. Dweller is a collection designed for the meaningful moments of everyday life. For capturing that feeling when everything falls perfectly into place. The warm glow of a lamp at dusk. The comforting weight of a well-crafted sofa. The beauty in textured surfaces, expressive silhouettes, and objects with character. It's design with meaning—and details that support the moments that matter: a cosy break on the sofa, a heartfelt conversation in warm, gentle light, and the simple joy of coming home.

Objects that dare

Not everything is meant to blend in. Some pieces are made to stand out—sculptural, surprising, full of character. Homes need contrast. A spark of surprise. A detail that makes you look twice. Reminding us that home is both calm and alive.

VISITING MADS

A home isn't for Show
—it's for living

A portrait of pastor and artist

MADS JUUL MUNCH

Meet Mads Juul Munch: a Danish pastor whose passions span preaching, poetry, painting, and clay. At Harlev Rectory, Mads lives with his wife Helene, their two children, Arthur and Jo, and the family dog, Lille. Together they have created a home for living, not for show. History lingers in every beam and pane, but it's carried into the present through the way they decorate: ceramics, lithographs, watercolours, and small sculptures chosen not for trends, but for meaning. Some are Mads' own works, others treasures collected along the way—pieces that spark reflection and hold precious memories.

With his open outlook and reflective spirit, Mads embodies what Hübsch calls a dweller: Someone who builds genuine connections between life, work, and home.

HÜBSCH INSIDE HOMES

Each room carries both history and soul. Old timber beams, worn wooden panels, and windowpanes marked with names of past dwellers. A lithograph found second-hand for a hundred kroner, a hand-thrown vase, or a stack of well-read books all add to the home's gentle rhythm — more about meaning than style. The unity adds to a warm atmosphere, open, and personal. Light filters across coloured walls and oak furniture, highlighting everyday still lifes. Nothing feels staged, yet everything feels considered. It's a home made for people, for presence, for conversation — a place where faith, creativity, and family life weave naturally together. For Mads, this openness also defines his role as pastor. His office, tucked within the family's daily life, welcomes parishioners not to be "fixed," but to be seen and heard. And beyond the walls, doors remain open — for children running in and out, shared meals in the garden, or a midsummer bonfire under the open sky. It's a home that invites creativity and reflection — and all the small moments that shape everyday life.

Neo Retro

Some things never fade — they return, bold and refreshed. Curves, colours, and materials that nod
to the past, yet feel entirely new.
Room by room, they mix nostalgia
with fresh twists, turning memories into moments yet to come.
